

The overarching goal of the Pinyon Juniper Partnership is to enable restoration at a landscape scale, and for those treatments and practices to be informed by science, with utilization as a beneficial outcome that puts money back into the restoration cycle; additionally, treatment results inform the larger body of scientific knowledge – with benefits compounding over time of focus.

